DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's arguments regarding the restriction requirement between Species 1-3 are found persuasive. Species 1-3 are obvious variants of one another. Thus, the restriction requirement dated October 14, 2008 has been withdrawn.

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the Search Report is not considered to be an information disclosure statement (IDS) complying with 37 CFR 1.98. 37 CFR 1.98(a)(2) requires a legible copy of: (1) each foreign patent; (2) each publication or that portion which caused it to be listed; (3) for each cited pending U.S. application, the application specification including claims, and any drawing of the application, or that portion of the application which caused it to be listed including any claims directed to that portion, unless the cited pending U.S. application is stored in the Image File Wrapper (IFW) system; and (4) all other information, or that portion which caused it to be listed. In addition, each IDS must include a list of all patents, publications, applications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office (see 37 CFR 1.98(a)(1) and (b)), and MPEP § 609.04(a), subsection I. states, "the list ... must be submitted on a separate paper." Therefore, the references cited in the Search Report have not been considered. Applicant is advised that the date of submission of any item of information or any missing element(s) will be the date of submission for purposes of determining compliance with the requirements based on the time of filing the IDS, including all "statement" requirements of 37 CFR 1.97(e). See MPEP § 609.05(a).

Art Unit: 2815

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Yamamoto et al (JP 09-077854). In re claims 1-5 and 9, Yamamoto et al discloses an organic semiconductor material comprising a compound represented by Formula (10) with B is represented by Formula (11) (it is obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Formula (11) with Formula

(12) and Formula (13) since they are obvious variants of Formula (11)) (i.e. Chemical Formulas 1-16).

In re claims 6-7, Yamamoto et al discloses the use of the organic semiconductor for a transistor (i.e. paragraph 0012). It is well known in the art that a field effect transistor contains a gate electrode and a current can be controlled by an application of a voltage.

In re claim 8, the recitation "a switching element" in the claim preamble specifies an intended use or field of use and is treated as nonlimiting since it has been held that in device claims, intended use must result in a structural difference between the claim invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claim invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967); In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). A claim containing a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987).

In re claim 10, Yamamoto et al discloses the compound having the thiazole moiety is a polymer (i.e. paragraph 0024).

Art Unit: 2815

In re claims 11-13, Yamamoto et al discloses the thiazole moiety comprises an alkyl group (i.e. paragraph 0016).

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Ng et al, "Molecular Diodes Based on Conjugated Diblock Co-oligomers," J. Am. Chem. Soc. 2002, 124, 11862-11863.

In re claims 1-5 and 9, Ng et al discloses an organic semiconductor material comprising a compound represented by Formula (10) with B is represented by Formula (11) (it is obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Formula (11) with Formula (12) and Formula (13) since they are obvious variants of Formula (11)) (i.e. Scheme 1).

In re claims 6-7, Ng et al discloses the use of the organic semiconductor for a transistor (i.e. page 11862, column 1). It is well known in the art that a field effect transistor contains a gate electrode and a current can be controlled by an application of a voltage.

In re claim 8, the recitation "a switching element" in the claim preamble specifies an intended use or field of use and is treated as nonlimiting since it has been held that in device claims, intended use must result in a structural difference between the claim invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claim invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967); In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). A claim containing a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987).

In re claim 10, Ng et al discloses the compound having the thiazole moiety is a polymer (i.e. entire document).

In re claims 11-13, Ng et al discloses the thiazole moiety comprises an alkyl group (i.e. entire document).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
